Serie T/9x: Bigger AND Better

THE SERIES FLAGSHIP

The job of any range topper for REL is to deliver more of everything, particularly output and dynamics. The 9x is no different in this regard, as it delivers the goods in both music and theatre applications. 9x, however, delivers a level of intimacy, clarity and speed that means there are no longer trade-offs between the sonic balance of smaller models weighed against the power and scale of a model 9.

The all new 9x has even greater output than before, but the headline news is the way it sacrifices nothing in clarity and transparency to achieve this. At this price it opens the pathway for owners of high performance European floor and stand mounted monitors and smaller panel speakers to enjoy truly full range sound.

Well-built, versatile sub that especially shines with music

This is by far the best sounding most musical sub I have ever owned. Having previously owned a Polk Audio DSW660 and an SVS SB-1000 Pro, I can honestly say this is in a different class entirely. It's not as brutish as the larger Polk, but it's far more refined and more than sufficiently powerful for my listening space. I use it in a 5.1 setup home...Read More

Excellent quality!

The superb sound quality of my REL T9x enhances my overall audio system. I couldn't be happier with how much more dynamic my system sounds with this sub. It blended seamlessly with my main speakers.

As much as I love just the single sub, I will be adding another T9x in the future to take my musical enjoyment to the next level.

When you get it out of the box the superior build quality, attractive design and gorgeous finish provides an immediate feeling of luxury. It's not all looks either, and this discreetly-compact subwoofer does an awful lot with its 10-inch driver, 10-inch passive radiator and 300W of Class A/B power. Read More +
